MESSAGE

I take this opportunity to congratulate the winners, assessors and applicants of the CII National Award for Food Safety. It reflects your commitment & efforts in the journey to food safety excellence. I am happy to know that the award has grown more than eight folds since its inception in 2010 with the involvement of qualified assessors from a pool of 250 food professionals spending more than 100 man hours per evaluation. It is also very encouraging to find that 68% of the participation was from small and medium food business and street food vendors. I would like to make a special mention of the street food winners who have come all the way from various parts of the country to endorse their commitment to safe food. Congratulations once again.
